				The starter seems to be malfunctioning. Please check and report.	N/C

Visually through the inspection plate we could not see any problems with the ringgear. We removed the starter motor we had installed in October. We bench tested this motor and it worked okay on the bench. We checked with our vendor and they had a replacement in stock. We then double checked with a different vendor and found that they were showing a different part number. We have installed this other part number and it is starting fine at this time.

The drive belts are cracked.
 Technician noticed some banging from the underside as he let off the gas. Jason says he replaced the driveline and thinks this comes from the rear subframe. We did not inspect this. It was just an observation on our road test.
